Junior doctors' strike causes disruption

Residents' fury over uni users parking on roads

RESIDENTS living close to Edge Hill University have reacted furiously to the news that sports facility users have been told to hand in their parking permits and park on the surrounding roads.

Members of Edge Hill Sport, who were issued the permits to park on the campus while using the sports facilities, were sent a letter on January 4 by Paul Greenwood, head of sports services, asking them to return their permits and suggesting they park on Ruff Lane, Vicarage Lane, Scarth Hill Lane and other nearby roads.

An Edge Hill spokesperson said: "When the new sports centre was opened a number of local residents were erroneously, and through no fault of their own, provided with permits to park at the university during peak hours when demand for on–site parking is at its highest. These permits were issued in breach of the university's travel plan requirements as stipulated in planning conditions imposed by the local authority and Lancashire County Council.

"The sports centre continues to be available for members of the community to use during the day, however car parking is restricted during this time."

Sporting Edge user Adrian Clark said: "I was issued with a green badge but now this has been cancelled. There aren't any parking restrictions on part of Scarth Hill Lane but the situation has got very heated with local residents and it's ridiculous because the campus has at least 100 acres free to make a new car park!"

Champion reader Brian Day, from Ormskirk, added: "The reason the university is being ordered to make more space for students to park on campus is so fewer will park on local residential roads but now this advice will just send the problem around in a circle!"

RAF SERVICEMAN IN DRINK–FUELLED ATTACK WALKS FREE

By Lynda Roughley

28–year–old handed suspended sentence after judge says jail term "would not serve this country"

AN RAF serviceman knocked two strangers out cold in a drink–fuelled attack in Ormskirk while on leave, a court has heard.

But Ryan Cameron, who has seen active service in Afghanistan, walked free after a judge said that an immediate custodial sentence "would not serve this country."

Cameron's distinguished career hangs in the balance, however, as it is up to the RAF whether he is allowed to remain in the service.

28–year–old Cameron, who is based at Lossiemouth in Scotland, but was on leave seeing family and friends in West Lancashire, admitted serious charges of inflicting grievous bodily harm and wounding, and was sentenced to 15 months imprisonment suspended for two years.

Judge Robert Warnock, who expressed "straightforward admiration for the work you do overseas", also ordered him to pay £2,500 compensation to one victim and £1,000 to the other.

He said Cameron did not require rehabilitation. "You know what you have to do – stop drinking so much. If they (the RAF) retain your services they will address such matters if necessary."

Henry Riding, prosecuting, told Liverpool Crown Court that in the early hours of April 26 last year Cameron and his brother were in the Mustard club in Ormskirk, as were the victims, Mark Williams and David Crouch.

One of the victims' friends bought four drinks and after taking two over to their friends he returned to the bar and found that Cameron, who had been next to him at the bar, had taken them for himself and his brother.

They agreed to buy replacements but an altercation started and Cameron and his brother "had a go" before friends intervened and door staff ejected them.

Mr Williams was also ejected, after being mistaken for the friend who had bought the drinks and just after he left Mr Crouch also went outside.

"As Mr Williams was walking towards him, not aggressively, the defendant then decked him with his left hand and the punch knocked him out cold," said Mr Riding.

Two police officers who were nearby speaking to door staff ran towards Cameron but could not control him and when Mr Crouch approached he was struck in exactly the same way.

WEST Lancs Council is urging residents in the borough to check their details are correct on the 2016 Register of Electors.

The revised version of the Register of Electors is available for inspection, under supervision, during normal office hours at the council offices at 52 Derby Street, Ormskirk (Monday to Thursday 9am to 5pm, Friday 9am to 4.45pm).

You can also check your details by calling 01695 585018.

A police and crime commissioner election and borough council elections in some wards are taking place on Thursday, May 5 and a referendum on the UK's membership of the European Union may be called. People who are not on the Register of Electors will not be able to vote in those elections or in any referendum.

The borough's Returning Officer, Gill Rowe, said: "You need to be on the electoral roll to have your say in the local, police and crime commissioner elections and any referendum and incorrect details may result in residents not being able to vote – so it really is worth taking the time to check."

For more information about the Register of Electors, or checking your details, contact Electoral Services on 01695 585018 or email elections.office@westlancs.gov.uk

County's gritting squad geared up for cold spell

...but residents urged to stay alert

TRANSPORT chiefs say they are prepared for the expected change in the weather conditions following an unseasonably warm winter to date.

But although Lancashire County Council's 49–strong gritting fleet are ready to swing into action, residents are warned to stay alert for very changeable conditions, which could make roads treacherous even after they've been gritted.

County Councillor John Fillis, Lancashire's cabinet member for highways and transport, said: "Our gritters have been out less than 10 times so far this winter but we understand from the Met Office that the long–range forecast from now on is for the kind of weather we'd usually expect at this time of year.

"We're as ready as we can be for whatever the weather throws at us with over 30,000 tonnes of salt in stock and 49 gritters ready to go from nine depots based around the county.

"We get very accurate weather forecasts and grit whenever a freeze is forecast. It isn't practical to treat every road, however we treat all the A roads, all B roads, and some C roads, which adds up to around 1,500 miles of road – about a third of the total in Lancashire.

"Last year we experienced some very changeable conditions, including incidents when hail fell on freezing roads and turned to sheet ice in a few minutes. Rain falling on freezing surfaces can also create black ice which is virtually impossible to see, and can happen even when a road has been gritted.

County Councillor John Fillis

"The very wet conditions we've had in recent weeks will also mean that run–off from fields or springs flowing up could create ice patches on rural roads, and I'd ask people to beware of this.

"I'd also ask people to remember that just because a road has been gritted it doesn't mean it won't be icy as it takes time and the action of tyres to mix the salt with the ice and make it work by lowering the temperature at which the water freezes."

When it snows, it can cost up to £100,000 a day to keep the operation going. The county council also has on standby a number of agricultural contractors ready to clear more remote rural roads in the event of heavy snow.

Junior doctors' strike causes disruption

Report by Henry James

JUNIOR doctors at Southport and Ormskirk hospitals went on strike yesterday (Tuesday) causing disruption to patients and the expected cancellation of operations.

It was the first in a series of three nationwide strikes junior doctors have planned in their dispute with the government over new contracts.

The 24–hour walk–out began at 8am.

Rob Gillies, executive medical director at Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust, said the trust was working with doctors and nurses not affected by the strike and other clinical staff on robust plans to ensure that appropriate care was delivered.

He added that with the exception of dermatology, ophthalmology and maxillo–facial care, many of the planned services the hospitals provide would be affected and they were in touch with the patients concerned.

Mr Gillies commented: "Patients in need of emergency hospital care will continue to receive the treatment they need, when they need it. In all cases priority will be given to those patients with the most pressing health needs."

The walk–out was called after talks between the British Medical Association and the government stalled.

The BMA is concerned the government wants to reduce the number of weekend hours for which junior doctors can claim more pay for working unsocial hours. The BMA also want to see more protection in place to stop junior doctors being over–worked.

Further strikes are planned for 48 hours from 8am Tuesday, January 26 and for nine hours on Wednesday, February 10.

Family's £8,000 'thank–you' gift to hospital

The Bell family with friends, family and volunteers and some of the trees they collected Code1087198

By Danielle Thompson

THE grateful family of a four–year–old boy successfully treated for a brain tumour at Alder Hey Children's Hospital have raised almost £8,000 by collecting 'used' Christmas trees!

Rosalind Bell, whose son Daniel was rushed into emergency surgery in June 2014, organised a second annual festive–themed challenge to raise money to buy equipment for the Liverpool hospital.

With the help of volunteers, family and friends, the 34–year–old from Black Moss Lane, Ormskirk picked up more than 300 trees from homes across West Lancashire, Sefton and South Liverpool on Saturdays January 2 and 9 in return for a £10 donation.

However, many people donated more than the suggested amount while others contributed even though they had no trees to collect!

And the family's efforts also gave a welcome boost to the environment with the collected trees being handed over to National Trust to be used to bind the dunes at Formby beach to halt sand erosion by the wind.

The total raised easily surpassed the family's initial target of £2,700 to buy six recliner chairs for the families of children on the neurosurgery high–dependency unit at Alder Hey to sleep on overnight.

Cash donations realised more than £4,000 and with Gift Aid added this is expected to reach around £5,000, while a big–hearted retired couple from Skelmersdale weighed in with a bumper £3,000 donation.

The extra funds will be used to buy recliner chairs for children undergoing chemotherapy treatment as day patients.

The family first came up with the idea of collecting Christmas trees in 2014, raising more than £2,200 which they used to buy 10 mini iPads and protective cases for the neurosurgical and oncology wards at Alder Hey.

Rosalind said: "After we were featured in the Champion my phone never stopped ringing! It was fantastic to have so much interest in the appeal

"The first year that we did it we collected 100 trees but this year it was about 300!

"Local businesses Arnold Clark in Liverpool, Stagecoach in Chorley and Axis Distribution in Ashton–in–Makerfield kindly gave us nine vans, while our lovely volunteer Kerry Stabler did South Liverpool on her own and Lee and Gretta Dycke from Aughton came along in their own van to help out.

"We are absolutely thrilled that we reached – and surpassed – our target – and we are planning to hold a third Christmas tree fundraiser next year as well."

Borough ban for hare–hunting trio

Neil Walsh

Liam Doherty

James Reid

By Tom Martin

THREE men from Sefton have been banned from entering parts of West Lancashire after being caught using dogs to hunt hares.

Liam Doherty, 26, from Crosby and James Reid, 32 and Neil Walsh, 30, both from Bootle, have been given 18–month Criminal Behaviour Orders (CBO).

It means that the trio can no longer enter a large area of West Lancashire with a dog or be in company with anyone who has a dog, until June 2017.

The orders, issued at Ormskirk Magistrates Court under the Hunting Act 2004, were imposed after they were caught entering farmland in the Leverhulme Estate with four dogs with the intent of hunting brown hares, a protected species.

PC Ivan Leivers of Lancashire Police said: "These three men have regularly and routinely entered West Lancashire with the express intent of hunting a protected mammal – the brown hare – with their dogs.

"This order will ensure that if they continue to partake in this barbaric activity, they face the very real possibility of being given a custodial sentence. The other offenders who come here to carry out coursing should be warned, we will apply for these orders wherever and whenever we can."

Sgt. Craig Appleton added: "This result is the culmination of many hours of hard work put into the case by PC Leivers which has come to fruition in the form of the degree of control which is now placed on these individuals.

"Lancashire Constabulary is committed to protecting all communities from crime and this result will send out the message to any persons thinking of committing rural crime of this nature that their actions will not be tolerated. In future cases of a similar nature in West Lancashire, CBOs will be considered and if granted will be enforced."

Christmas present was a lifesaver for Sarah!

Report by Ollie Cowan

Fitness gadget alerted Edge Hill student to dangerous heart condition

A FITNESS tracking device known as a 'FitBit' saved the life of an Edge Hill student by alerting her to a dangerous heart condition.

Sarah McIntosh was given the FitBit Surge Activity tracking wristband for Christmas as a present from her parents – but little did she know just how vital the small gadget would prove to be.

The 18–year–old woke up with heart palpitations in the middle of the night on January 5, Sarah thought nothing more of it when they subsided.

However, the following evening things took a turn for the worse while Sarah was studying for an exam for her criminology and criminal justice course at the Ormskirk university.

She again felt her heart start to race and her FitBit gadget showed her heart rate had shot up to a potentially fatal 220 beats per minute – three times the normal rate of a healthy person of her age.

Concerned, Sarah called the NHS helpline and was immediately instructed to phone for an ambulance. When she was taken to hospital doctors discovered Sarah suffered from a previously unknown heart defect – making her heart work so fast it would appear she was running a marathon while lying down!

Now Sarah wants to let others know of the potentially life saving benefits of wearing an activity tracking health wristband.

She told the Champion: "I got the Fitbit Surge from my parents for Christmas and wear it all the time, even when I sleep.

"I woke up at 4am on January 5 with sharp stabbing pains in my chest and out of breath but it went away after 40 minutes or so I just thought it was one of those things and dismissed it.

"However the next night I was at uni revising for my exam when I felt my chest starting to hurt and I found it hard to breathe. It felt like someone had their hand on my chest and was pressing down hard.

Sarah with the FitBit wristband that she says saved her life

"I could feel my heart beating very fast but I had my Fitbit on and my heart rate kept increasing from about 84bmp to 210bmp in about half–an–hour and it wouldn't go below 190bpm.

Concerned

"I phoned the NHS helpline and they said to call an ambulance service to rush me to Southport hospital immediately.

"When the first response crew came they took all my vital signs and everything was clear but they said my FitBit was correct and that my heart rate was dangerously high – three times what it should be.

"At the hospital they hooked me up to all these machines and did some blood tests and found an issue with my heart.

"Eventually medics managed to force my heart to slow down along with the rest of my body and for the first time that day I could get a full breath and I felt a lot better.

"Doctors were very concerned, as a healthy, active 18 year–old girl who doesn't drink, smoke or take any drugs and exercises regularly shouldn't have a heart rate as high as 210bmp.

"They said my body was running a marathon without me using my legs.

"My Fitbit was still on me at this time showing how many calories I had burned. It was close to 4,000 in a day when I normally burn just under 1,600 a day.

"The doctors said that if I hadn't phoned for an ambulance when I did and if I wasn't wearing my Fitbit to track my heart rate, I may have suffered a fatal heart attack.

"The FitBit saved my life!"

Give your views on bus axe plans

MEMBERS of a local community group are launching a last–minute appeal for residents to make sure that their views are heard on possible plans to cut the No. 6 bus route.

The service, which connects Scott ward and Aughton with Ormskirk town centre, is under threat after Lancashire County Council announced plans to withdraw transport subsidies as a result on government cuts to the authority's funding.

Residents only have until Monday (January 18) to make their views on the proposals known.

A spokesman for Ormskirk Residents' Group said: "The No. 6 bus is a lifeline for many residents who cannot access the town centre by other means. This service is under threat as a result of Lancashire County Council budget cut proposals and residents' views, especially those who either rely on this service or use it regularly, are urgently required.

"The council leader stated that the main priority with any bus service cuts was "to protect the most vulnerable" and this proposal is definitely at odds with that aim."

The residents group is urging any residents who have not already done so to make their views known by contacting the county council by email at haveyoursay@lancashire.gov.uk. Alternatively you can contact the residents group on ormskirkrg@outlook.com or via their website www.ormskirkresidentsgroup.co.uk and they will pass on your views to the authority.

Mr Williams suffered multiple mid–face fractures and Mr Crouch suffered bleeding on the brain but has fortunately recovered, the court heard.

Nicholas Walker, defending, said that Cameron, who has been in the RAF for seven years, had been commended for his services at Camp Bastion during a tour of duty in Afghanistan, which included repatriation of bodies and clearing up after insurgent attacks. He is about to sent to Estonia, if his services are retained, he added.

Judge Warnock told Cameron, who has no previous convictions, that he had been "exceedingly drunk" and combined with his boxing ability and physical size it resulted in him seriously injuring two "perfectly innocent by–standers".

He said his behaviour had been "wholly and totally unacceptable and was disgraceful."

His actions had also had financial repercussions for his victims, who have been left physically scarred.

Big turn–out for link road meeting

Residents pack out the meeting at Our Lady Help of Christians Roman Catholic Church

By Danielle Thompson

MORE than 120 residents attended a meeting to discuss whether bringing forward a proposed link road would cut the number of accidents in rural areas in West Lancashire including Tarleton.

The Green Lane Link Road will connect agricultural and horticultural businesses to the A565 to relieve problems in villages which currently suffer congestion due to HGVs.

West Lancashire Borough Councillor for North Meols, Malcolm Barron, who commissioned two independent surveys into accidents in the area, believes that bringing forward the development from its proposed date of 2019/20 would cut the number of incidents.

However, County Councillor John Fillis, Lancashire's cabinet member for highways and transport, is against bringing forward the development after a study by the county council which looked at recorded injury collisions in that area over the last five years concluded that it would not significantly reduce casualties.

Members of the public who attended the meeting at Our Lady Help of Christians Roman Catholic Church in Hesketh Lane, Tarleton heard an independent health and safety report by transport experts.

Speakers included South Ribble MP Seema Kennedy, county, borough and parish councillors and road transport speakers.

The presentation was a slimmed–down version of an 86–page report with 100 photos of dangerous situations drawn up with the help of eight volunteers.

Cllr. Barron, who lives in Tarleton, said: "The current situation is a disaster waiting to happen as hundreds of HGVs and tractors pose a serious threat to pedestrians and cyclists.

"The danger and unfitness of the roads in the villages make it even more urgently required."

At the end of the meeting there was a question–and–answer session from the floor and it was announced the subject would be discussed at future meeting of the parish council.

Council offers helping hand to dispose of flood–damaged goods

Free collection service will operate until end of month

Report by Danielle Thompson

WEST Lancs Council is continuing to help residents following flooding in the borough over the Christmas and New Year period.

As well as assisting the lead agencies such as Lancashire County Council and the Environment Agency, and the police and fire service, the borough council has been cleaning up sludge and debris from the roads and footways.

And they are continuing to help residents dispose of furniture and other household goods damaged by floods.

Council vehicles will visit areas affected by the flooding to collect materials such as carpets and furniture and dispose of them. This will be a free service and the visits will take place on specific dates up to January 31.

Councillor Kevin Wilkie,the council's portfolio holder for street scene, said: "The council is very sympathetic to residents affected by the floods caused by the recent heavy rains. I am very pleased that we are able to offer this free service to residents to help them at this difficult time."

Councillor Kevin Wilkie

The authority has a record of properties that have been reported as having suffered internal flooding. Vehicles will be visiting those areas as follows:

- Mondays January 11, 18 and 25 – Parbold area.
- Tuesdays January 12, 19 and 26 – Other areas affected by the floods.
- Wednesdays January 13, 20, and 27 – Ormskirk area.
- Fridays January, 15, 22, and 29 January – Burscough area.

Residents will have to bring the goods out of the houses themselves or make arrangements for this to be done. They should also ensure that they have no further need for the goods, e.g. for any insurance claim.

Council staff are not able to enter people's homes to remove goods.

For more details call the council on 01695 577177.

If your home suffered internal flooding due to heavy rains between Christmas and New Year and you haven't already informed the council you can email EnvHealth. Admin @westlancs.gov.uk.

Beach walk turns up message in a bottle!

Report by Henry James

MIKE Ingman got more than he bargained for when he went for a post–Christmas stroll along the beach after stumbling across a message in a bottle!

The 37–year–old from Aughton made his discovery on the beach at Aberdaron – about 15 miles west of Pwhelli in Gwynedd on the North Wales coast – while walking his dog on the afternoon of December 29.

Spotting the bottle washed up on the beach, Mike was amazed to find the message inside written by a man called Craig Drover.

The bottle had been launched from a boat called the Artic Eagle fishing in the waters off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland, Canada on May 20 before washing up more than 2,000 miles and nearly seven months later in Wales.

Mike said: "I was amazed when I found the bottle while walking my dog on a visit to Wales. I have been working on offshore wind farms in the area for the last few years so I am quite familiar with it. The bottle had been washed up on the beach by the strong surf at Aberdaron."

The message from Craig included the co–ordinates of where the boat was when the bottle was placed in the ocean and also said he would like the bottle back – although adding that the finder was quite welcome to keep the message as a souvenir!

Mike wrote about his discovery on social network website Facebook and soon had thousands of responses from people offering to help him trace Craig.

He added: "I have returned the bottle to Craig and he's sending me a frame to display the note. I've been in touch with him via email and Facebook and he was very excited. He sends a few bottles out each year and so far three have been found and returned including mine."

St. John's Catholic Primary School Burscough

St John's Catholic Primary School, Burscough, receives letter from Minister congratulating them on high academic performance

In December 2015 the school received a letter from the Minister of State for Schools, Nick Gibb MP, commending the school on its high standard of performance, making it one of only 187 schools in the country to achieve such levels of attainment.

"We want to ensure that every child has the necessary fluency in reading, writing and mathematics to give them a platform for success at secondary school and beyond, and your school has provided this." Nick Gibb MP, Dec 2015.

The recently published school performance tables from the Department for Education, 100% of pupils made at least expected progress by the end of KS2 and the school is ranked first amongst similar schools nationally (i.e. schools with similar performance at KS1).

The tables state that there is no statistically better performing school within a 75 mile radius!

But there is much more to life at St John's Catholic primary school than academic standards!

St John's Catholic School is situated in lovely grounds and is an accredited forest school, with children regularly visiting the local woodland, Scutcher's Acre, where they learn lots of new skills and take part in a range of activities.

At a time when the government is actively promoting learning outside the classroom, St John's Catholic Primary School is striving to be at the forefront of learning excellence by offering real life, quality learning experiences for all children. Children learn inside and out – come rain or shine!

Children at St John's Catholic have the opportunity to develop their team building skills, develop patience and perseverance and manage risk.

Their hard work over the past three years has now been recognised nationally by the Council for Learning Outside the Classroom (CLOtC) which has awarded them with Silver accreditation. LOtC Mark (Silver) recognises schools and settings with a strong commitment to providing frequent, continuous and progressive LOtC experiences to all pupils. St John's is only the third school in Lancashire to be awarded the LOTC mark and is the first school in Lancashire to be awarded the SILVER mark.

Both parents and pupils highly rate the provision. "This is one of the best initiatives taken forward at St John's. It is an excellent way to engage the children, both physically and mentally, whilst challenging them as well. I love hearing about all their experiences in the forest and I wholeheartedly think other schools would benefit by involving their pupils in the forest school journey" Parent.

Recently Edgehill University has asked the school to form a partnership to help develop their practice in other Lancashire schools St John's was rated an outstanding Catholic school in the Section 48 inspection by the Archdiocese.

"The extent to which the pupils contribute to and benefit from the Catholic life of the school is outstanding. They thoroughly enjoy their life and work in school and are proud to be members of this happy community."

R.E Inspection 2013.
As a feeder school to both St Bede's and Priory High St John's welcomes children of all denominations.

With a well-established nursery unit for children from the age of three St John's Catholic Primary School is able to offer wrap-around care from 7.45am until 5.30pm.

St John's is a very happy school, classes are small and so children have the opportunity to excel and make very good progress. Behaviour is outstanding and children thrive in this caring environment. Rated Good by Ofsted in December 2012:

- In the Early Years Foundation Stage, children have an advantageous start. They gain good skills in reading and writing, in their physical development and in their personal and social skills.
- Pupils are eager to learn and get on well in lessons. They have a natural curiosity for the world around them and this adds to their enjoyment of school. Their enthusiasm is reflected in consistently above-average attendance.
  Ofsted December 2012

Visits to the school are warmly welcomed.

Burscough firm wins £110m London deal

MANAGEMENT at a Burscough company are celebrating after winning a multi–million pound contract.

Heating valve manufacturer Frese has been awarded the contract to supply the heating system for a new £110m London skyscraper.

The company, based on the Merlin Park industrial estate, will deliver the system to supply instantaneous domestic hot water to each of the Providence Tower's 484 apartments. And news of the contract comes just days after Frese revealed its annual turnover had risen to £4.2m.

The system being installed in the London development is one that the company says has proved successful in Denmark.

Managing director, Stephen Hart, said: "District and community heating systems are standard fare in Denmark with 66% of all Danish households being connected to a centralised network.

"These systems have helped Denmark improve energy efficiency and cut carbon emissions by almost a quarter. Frese has been working with them there for many years and as a result is the leader in technology connected to centralised heating systems."

The firm got off to a successful start this year by securing projects supplying valves to major landmark schemes such as London's Olympic Park transformation and Battersea Power Station Phase 1.

Mr Hart added: "We look set to be another good year. We are now seeing a dramatic growth in the use of community and district heating systems, with one central boiler or chiller supplying energy for several apartments or buildings."

Charity shop's plea for your unwanted Christmas gifts

Instead of gathering dust in a cupboard they could be helping people in need

Report by Danielle Thompson

BIG–hearted residents in Ormskirk are being urged to donate any unwanted Christmas gifts to a good cause.

Officials of the town's Salvation Army charity shop are appealing for local families to have a clear–out and hand in any unwanted presents – including clothes or bric–a–brac – to the store in Aughton Street.

Research by the charity has revealed that, on average, each person is given at least three gifts that they don't want at Christmas.

The findings also indicated that more than 40% of these end up at the bottom of cupboards.

Salvation Army charity shops across the country help to raise money for people living in poverty, providing homelessness and addiction services, care for older people, help at emergency incidents, support for adult victims of modern slavery in England and Wales and a family tracing service.

Area manager, Ann Penny, said: "When you consider that people spend hundreds of pounds on presents every year, it's a crying shame that so many Christmas gifts get buried and forgotten.

"Unwanted clothes and gift items have more value than you think – by donating to us, your items will not only get a new lease of life in someone else's home, but they help the Salvation Army raise much–needed funds to support vulnerable people here in the UK.

"We urgently need to keep our shelves stocked with donations so that the Salvation Army can continue running support programmes for people in need.

"All we ask is that people take a look to see what they don't want and consider donating them after their January clear–out."

Those unwanted Christmas gifts could help to boost a good cause

Council's options are limited – that's a fact!

MR Carter (Letters, December 9) thinks I need to think before putting finger to keyboard. I promise him I do think and check my facts as well.

I am not sure exactly what promises he feels the council has broken but many of the things he raised in his first letter were either never promised by the council or by the New Town Corporation and again the council was not responsible.

He compares Skelmersdale to a number of towns including Southport and Wigan. Only Burscough of the towns he mentions is smaller than Skelmersdale and its railway stations have been there since the 1850s and I don't think the council can claim the credit for those decisions.

In fact, Skelmersdale had a station from about the same period but sadly that station was closed in 1956 and when the New Town came it became Railway Road and a traffic island. None of that was the local council's fault.

Burscough's library is a lot smaller and has fewer opening hours and for the record Ormskirk railway station is a shadow of its former self as long–standing residents of West Lancashire can confirm.

He wants lower shop rents but the council do not set the rents, they are set by private landlords. So, he is calling for the council to subsidise rents in Skelmersdale but where will the money come from? Given that the government is slashing grants to local councils that is not very likely. Equally it will not go down well in the rest of the district.

I said the council does not run everything and he wonders who does. The answers depend on the service, but the NHS is run by central government through local commissioning boards and hospital trusts; railways are run either by private companies who run the trains or Network Rail which runs the infrastructure.

The Concourse is run by a private company and the previous administration at West Lancashire privatised the running of leisure such as Nye Bevan Pool. So West Lancashire Borough Council has few teeth and little direct management responsibility for the things Mr Carter wants. It can shout for things but its ability to deliver those things is very limited.

The fact is that Skelmersdale is increasingly at the mercy of private companies in one guise or another and so it becomes not a matter of what Skelmersdale people deserve but rather can they provide companies with a profit. And given the scale of cuts to local government in coming years there will be less services not more.

Chris Cheetham, by email

Forest of 'to let' signs is an eyesore and a danger

TWElFTH Night is when people traditionally take their Christmas decorations and lights down – outdoor lights, subtle or kitsch, which brighten up for a few weeks the dark winter nights. As most people who put lights up cannot see them once they draw the curtains they surely switch them on for the benefit and pleasure of the community.

The same cannot be said for the forest of 'to let' signs that now go up every year outside student accommodation and stay there for months, in and around Ormskirk, and are an eyesore and do nothing whatsoever for the community or the appearance of the town.

Given the recent increase in the storm–force winds we have been experiencing these flimsy signs have also become a safety issue. One close to me was blown down, both sign and post, in the strong winds before Christmas. Luckily it fell into the driveway and not the pavement or road, causing a serious accident. But upon seeing it lying in the driveway the landlord attempted to position it across the hedge, over the pavement, without any means of it being secured. Until I pointed out that winds of 50 to 60mph had been forecast.

When most of the students find their accommodation through the university or online are these 'to let' signs really necessary, when they do nothing to enhance the appearance of the town or, I suspect, find tenants, or do these landlords and agencies put them up purposley to irritate?

H. Pennington, Ormskirk

Old trees make a dunce fence

National Trust rangers are once again appealing for people to bring their used real Christmas trees down to Formby where they will be dug in to create a half–mile 'dune fence' which will encourage the growth of marram grass to help reduce the effects of erosion on the sand dunes.

Our village is getting a raw deal

LAST year Up Holland lost our Post Office. No doubt within the next six months we will also lose our library.

Skelmersdale always appears to take up any resources allocated to this area of the borough and to what end? It still lacks identity, still has a feel of a a declining town….and it still needs a railway station!

I and many other locals do not associate ourselves with Skelmersdale and accordingly gravitate towards the neighbouring towns of Wigan and St Helens for their retail, social and leisure pursuits.

In short, we are a village on the periphery of West Lancashire which is getting a raw deal both from West Lancashire Borough Council and Lancashire County Council.

What really concerns me is that I can't think of any solutions that have a chance of succeeding and reversing this picture.

The two councils could and should spend more within the village itself.

My solution? If at all possible the village of Up Holland should join a council like Wigan or St Helens where our voices would have a better chance of being heard and where hopefully we would be able to acquire some resources in order to ensure that the village remains a strong and vibrant community.

J. Gallagher, Up Holland

Prevention is key to averting floods

NATIONAL and regional reports of flooding in the west of Lancashire have focused mainly on Croston, where the River Douglas broke through flood defences.

However, there have been smaller–scale incidents across this part of Lancashire and into Southport and Maghull. When drainage systems cannot cope flooding results.

The consequences of flooding have been amply demonstrated by television images but the ongoing costs of cleaning up can only be imagined. Government regularly turns a blind eye to the benefits of prevention, preferring instead to leave local people and the insurance companies to deal with them.

What the government ignores is that these costs are carried partly by the whole community through insurance premiums and partly by the unfortunate people whose lives have been ruined.

Some areas are regularly experiencing flooding conditions that government departments predicted would occur only once in a hundred years. Western Lancashire is flat, with significant tracts of land at, or below, sea level. The Environment Agency has given notice that in the summer of 2017 it will cease to maintain part of the network of drainage pumping stations that protects our area; further reductions in support will follow at intervals. There is no agreement about successor arrangements.

People might think this is someone else's problem but it affects us all. When fields are flooded, roads get flooded, railway and canal embankments collapse and electricity and communications networks fail. Just imagine being trapped in a flooded home with no power, no telephone, no internet, and no means of transport for weeks at a time. That could have happened in recent weeks, but for the local drainage network.

Roger Clayton, Lathom

Hospital car parking charges cause distress to vulnerable patients

YOUR article on hospital car parking charges made by the Southport and Ormskirk Hospital Trust raised an important issue which deserves further attention.

Vast sums of money are involved and the answers given are opaque. Meanwhile, they are the cause of distress and uncertainty to patients attending hospital for treatment, particularly those coping with a life–threatening illness such as cancer.

Such patients in receipt of vital treatments such as radiotherapy and chemotherapy will often have to make frequent visits to hospital. The ensuing charges adds to their stress and are a challenge to a core principle of the NHS that treatment should be free at the point of entry.

There are unacceptable variations in the cost of charges required by hospital trusts, both nationwide and locally. In Scotland hospital car parking charges were abolished in 2008. In Wales, there are only two health boards which have car parking charges. Locally, Whiston Teaching Hospital and Aintree University Hospitals waive charges for cancer patients making regular visits for treatment.

Why are patients visiting Southport and Ormskirk Hospitals experiencing discriminatory charges? Has it something to do with the quality of service provided? Hardly, given that two of the leading cancer treatment centres in the North West, Clatterbridge and Christies, are able to offer a high–quality, well–regarded service free of charge to patients.

It's about time Southport and Ormskirk Trust adopted a similar policy.

Brian Donnelly, committee chair, Firm Roots Trust charity, working in conjunction with Macmillan to provide spiritual, personal and practical support to cancer patients

Trust team welcome launch of sugar–measuring app

A NEW app has been launched by health chiefs to encourage people to cut down on their sugar intake.

The Fit Squad at Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust has welcomed the new app, released by Public Health England, which will show how much sugar is in everyday food and drink.

The free app works by scanning the barcode of products and revealing the amount of total sugar the product contains in cubes and grams. The new app comes as it was announced that a third of 10 and 11–year–olds and more than a fifth of four and five–year–olds were overweight or obese.

Tracy Sutton, healthy lifestyles service manager at the trust, said: "'The app is a great, quick and easy way to find out just how much sugar we are consuming in our everyday diet. It also contains information about how much sugar a person should have and provides information about sugar swaps and alternative options.

"As obesity figures rise, it's never been more important to improve the health and wellbeing of ourselves and our family. On average each year obesity costs the NHS over five billion pounds and that figure is due to rise each year."

The team at the trust provides a free weight management and physical activity programme and can be contacted by email at lcn–tr.healthylifestyles@nhs.net or by phone on 01772 644158.

Alert system developed at Edge Hill will provide support for end–of–life carers

Professor Barbara Jack

Report by Henry James

AN alert system developed at Edge Hill University designed to assess the needs of people caring for terminally ill loved ones, has featured in the recently published National Institute for Health Research (NIHR) Better Endings report.

The Carers' Alert Thermometer (CAT) is a simple screening tool, developed with more than 245 carers and professionals from around the North West, that aims to provide an alert to potential areas of burden that carers are experiencing and trigger interventions where appropriate.

The CAT is a response to a major research study that informed the Better Endings report, undertaken at Edge Hill University and funded by the NIHR. The study found that support received by unpaid family carers could be a significant factor in what happens to terminally ill people, particularly those with cancer, at the end of their lives.

Professor Barbara Jack, director of Edge Hill's evidence–based Practice Research Centre, said the Better Endings report provides important insight into the issues facing those on the front–line of palliative care.

She said: "Prior to commencing the research project, it had become apparent that an increasing number of cancer patients, who had elected to die at home, were being admitted to hospital in their last days of life.

Initiatives

"While honouring people's final wishes and helping them die with dignity is common to all carers' motivations, it was identified that in many cases carer fatigue played a pivotal role in end if life hospitalisation.

"The CAT has been designed to help carers and professionals identify breakdown behaviours and risk areas before they escalate, helping many more terminally ill people avoid hospitalisation during their final days."

Better Endings is the first such report to bring together evidence on a single topic from across the NIHR. The review is being launched at an event taking place at the Kings Fund in London, which will be attended by NHS clinicians, commissioners, patients and researchers.

The themed review aims to help NHS decision makers by presenting the findings of 17 NIHR studies in a clear and comprehensive way. It also highlights 12 pieces of ongoing NIHR funded research that are evaluating new and existing care initiatives, such as 'hospice at home' and a new data sharing service to improve continuity of care.

The CAT research team included Dr Katherine Knighting, Dr Mary O'Brien, Professor Brenda Roe from Edge Hill University, Professor Mike Nolan (University of Sheffield), Professor Mari Lloyd–Williams (University of Liverpool), Dr Rob Gandy (independent consultant), and Kirsty Pine (Liverpool Care Commissioning Group).

Chance to learn about Viking links

THERE is a chance for local residents to learn more about West Lancashire's links with the Vikings at a meeting later this year.

Professor Steven Harding from the University of Nottingham will be joined by a team of Viking experts who will speak and answer questions at the meeting to be held in Ormskirk Civic Hall, Southport Road, on Wednesday, March 16 starting at 7pm.

In addition to Professor Harding the speakers will include David Griffiths, reader in archaeology at Oxford University and Judith Jesch, professor of Viking Study at the University of Nottingham.

Robert Ireland from the West Lancashire Heritage Association said: "This promises to be a most interesting and fascinating evening for residents of West Lancashire, Sefton and Merseyside – whatever their own ancestral story."

In 2002, Professor and his team conducted a survey, looking for the Viking 'Y' chromosome in men from the area. DNA samples were taken from male volunteers who had old Lancashire names and were able to prove their forefathers were living in West Lancashire before 1700.

These genetic tests on West Lancashire male residents showed that DNA types common in Norway and Denmark were also found here, suggesting the origin of the Vikings who came here.

This area was chosen because of the existence of many Scandinavian place names in Sefton and West Lancashire – such as Formby, Crosby, Kirkby, Skelmersdale and Ormskirk – and also on the Wirral.

Their new findings about Viking Lancashire will be the theme of the talk in March and it's hoped the evening will be well attended by the local communities.

For more information or to order tickets ring Patrick on 01695 573350 or email trishandbob1@talktalk.net.

Council leisure chief's call to put on your walking shoes!

Report by Danielle Thompson

WEST Lancs residents are being urged to invest in some comfortable walking shoes and join the council's GP referral officers on a series of short, sociable walks across different locations in the borough in the new year.

The council's health walks are open to all, are approximately an hour long and a well–earned cuppa awaits at the end.

Councillor Yvonne Gagen, the council's portfolio holder for leisure, said: "If you want to be fitter and healthier in 2016 then our health walks can really help you with that. So let your feet hit the street and come and join the walkers – a warm welcome awaits and there's no need to book, just turn up!"

Meeting points and times for the walks, which started again this week, are as follows:

• Tuesdays, 10am to 11am, starting from the bowling pavilion at Richmond Park, Burscough.

• Wednesdays, 1 to 2pm, starting from the bowling pavilion at Coronation Park, Ormskirk.

• Thursdays, 10am to 11am from Banks Leisure Centre, Banks.

Walkers are advised to wear suitable clothing and footwear for the weather and ground conditions.

For more information, contact the West Lancs GP Referral Officer on 01695 555804 or 01695 585145.

Meanwhile, a new series of monthly advanced health walks will be starting in February.

Led by West Lancashire Parks and Countryside Ranger Service, the walks will be between four and six miles in length, exploring different parts of the local countryside and discovering the wildlife that can be found across West Lancashire.

Councillor Yvonne Gagen

The first advanced walk will be at Fairy Glen, Appley Bridge starting at 10am on Monday, February 1.

Fairy Glen is a wonderful countryside site situated on the side of Parbold Hill and the main entrance can be accessed from the A5209. There is free parking in a layby opposite the site.

All extended health walks take place on the first Monday of the month and meeting time is 10am. Due to the advanced nature of these walks it is advised that you wear suitable sturdy footwear with ankle support.

NFU warning over pumps closure risk

By Danielle Thompson

AN environment expert from the National Farmers Union (NFU) has warned that an urgent solution needs to be found for flooding issues in West Lancashire and Sefton before the Alt Crossens pumps are turned off by the Environment Agency in summer 2017.

The agency has released a map showing which low–lying areas currently kept clear by five flood–preventing pumps at Banks Marsh, Boundary Brook, Kew, Rufford Causeway and Clay Brow which could be at risk of flooding when funding for the pumps is axed in July 2017.

Alice Richards, environment and land use advisor for the NFU, told the Champion that unless an Internal Drainage Board (IBD) is formed, the areas between Hesketh Bank in the north to Great Altcar in the south would be at risk of flooding. The IRB would manage water levels and undertake work to reduce flooding risks to take over running the pumps.

Much of the board's work would involve maintaining and improving watercourses and related infrastructure such as pumping stations, weirs, sluices, culverts and embankments within their drainage districts.

The IDB could cost up to £800,000 with half the funding coming from 'drainage rates' paid by local landowners, while the other half would come from a special levy contributed by local authorities on behalf of non–land managers in the area.

Alice Richards said: "The Environment Agency's map shows the areas which would be at risk and although the agency says that homes would not be flooded, gardens would, as would roads, businesses and several hundred acres of grade one agricultural land.

"The effect of this would be felt in the surrounding areas as well. Food production would be severely affected; transport would be difficult and those living in the affected area would really suffer with some parts permanently flooded.

"An IDB would be the best solution. The farming community understands and will give their financial backing to their part of the cost – the local authority needs to support it too or the whole community will suffer."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Manager Paul Kane feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Crosby, Litherland, Aintree, Maghull, Walton, Anfield, Netherton, Bootle, Formby, Ormskirk and Skelmersdale areas & Paul is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Paul a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

OLD BED RECYCLING SERVICE

County chief seeks input on savings

County Councillor Jennifer Mein

LANCASHIRE County Council chiefs are urging residents of the county to have their say on how the authority plans to tackle the "huge savings" it needs to make.

Over the next five years to 2020/21 the county council must deliver savings of £262m on top of those agreed within previous budget processes.

The first of a series of consultations has now been launched, on plans for the library service, the withdrawal of subsidy for local bus services and ceasing to provide countryside services.

There will also be opportunities to comment on the budget proposals as a whole and for community groups to express an interest in taking over council buildings or services.

Further consultations will be launched shortly.

Leader of the council, County Councillor Jennifer Mein, said: "We face an unprecedented financial challenge as a result of relentless cuts in central government funding combined with a rising demand for our services and we now have to take a number of very difficult decisions.

"We know that based on current spending and forecast demand for services, the council will not have sufficient financial resources to meet its statutory obligations by April 2018 and will need to rely heavily on spending its reserves in order to set a balanced budget for 2016/17 and 2017/18.

"Our main priority is protecting the most vulnerable in our society and that obviously influences how we will make the necessary savings.

"The council can clearly not afford to continue delivering all of the services it does now, so this is a hard issue for councillors and our communities alike to face up to. However, we are open to any ideas that people may have on how we can lessen the impact of savings and I would urge people to have their say."

Full details of the consultation process are available at the Lancashire County Council website at www.lancashire.gov.uk, under Budget proposal consultation.

Prince's Trust spots up for grabs

YOUNG people aged 16 to 25 are being urged to sign up to a scheme which aims to give them the skills to help them to move into employment, further education or training.

The Ormskirk branch of the Prince's Trust team programme still has places on the next 12–week development course, Team 10, starting on Monday, January 18.

As well as taking part in a fully–paid, four–day residential project, members of the team are placed in a suitable two–week work environment which will enable them to gain valuable experience and an appropriate reference.

Volunteers also gain a qualification at the conclusion, along with other certificates. Taking part in the programme will not affect Jobseekers' benefits.

The team will be based at Ormskirk College on Hants Lane and the project will run until Friday, April 8.

For more details contact team leader Jonathon Marlow on 07870 168529 or email jonathon.marlow@westlancs.ac.uk.

Water company seeks to enlist leak–spotters

Dog walkers and joggers urged to look out for tell–tale signs

OFFICIALS at water company United Utilities are hoping to recruit a team of unofficial 'inspectors' to help tackle the problem of leaks.

They are calling on members of the public to keep their eyes peeled for evidence of water leaks and to report any suspicious puddles.

And they are particularly keen to encourage dog walkers, joggers and regular walkers to be on the look–out as they pound the pavements of the region.

Leakage reports can be made by calling free on 0800 330033; using an online form at www.unitedutilities.com, or tweeting the United Utilities @unitedutilities using hashtag UULeakline

In an 'average' week the water company fixes around 450 leaks, although this can rise to about 750 during cold snaps.

And although they reckon to be able to pinpoint approximately 60% of leaks as they occur, with some 26,000 miles of pipes to monitor it is not always possible to know about each one.

As a result, the public's help is key and the company believes dog walkers might be an ideal group to take the lead.

Dave Briers, water network delivery manager at United Utilities, said: "There are many different causes of leaks. For example, they could be due to ground movement caused by heavy traffic or freezing conditions; tree roots can also damage pipes over time, as can building work. They can occur anywhere at any time.

"Members of the public who walk specific routes regularly are ideally placed to spot a leak developing and, unlike motorists, are also likely to have their phones at the ready to tweet or message us so that we can get our team investigating. Reports like this are a massive help."

Meanwhile the company has launched a new infographic and video to explain what happens when a leak has been reported.

To view the infographic and Leakline video, visit www.unitedutilities.com /customer–cafe.

Quit Squad on hand to help smokers give habit the boot

A SPECIAL team of health workers are encouraging smokers in West Lancashire to make 2016 the year they make a step towards a smokefree future.

The Quit Squad, Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust's stop smoking service, offers one–to–one sessions, drop–in clinics with no appointment needed, nicotine replacement therapies, stop smoking products and support and advice to those who want to stop smoking.

The service also provides assistance for those who use other tobacco products as well as cigarettes, including shisha, and also welcome users of e–cigarettes to help them quit nicotine for good.

The New Year is a great opportunity to quit the habit for good with the help of the service.

Julie Trezise, Quit Squad Service manager at Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust, said: "We all start the New Year with the best of intentions and stopping smoking is a popular resolution to pledge.

"You're five times more likely to quit for good with the help of your local stop smoking service than using willpower alone.

"Smoking continues to be a major preventable cause of premature death and disease in England however with the help of our dedicated and friendly team we can help you make this year the year of a new, smokefree you."

To contact the team you can call Freephone 0800 328 6297 or call 01254 283370 or 01772 644474.

For more information you can also log on to their website at www.quitsquad.nhs.uk.

Our West Lancashire mark first anniversary

OFFICIALS of the new independent party in the borough, Our West Lancashire, have marked the first anniversary of its formation by claiming a growing membership and issuing an annual report charting its impact in 2015.

The party's founder, Councillor Adrian Owens, said: "We've seen an increase in our membership as the year has gone on as more and more civic–minded people are recognising what we are trying to achieve.

"Our 2015 annual report details the impact that we have had, and, as we move into 2016, we will step up our efforts to ensure that the local councils put residents' interests first before party political dogma."

One of the group's new members is Amanda Shaw, who runs a small business from her home and also hosts informal monthly business networking events in Ormskirk under the Evolve Business Networking banner with all profits going to charity.

Amanda said: "I've joined Our West Lancashire as they are highlighting concerns and issues ignored by the main two parties.

"It was Our West Lancashire who first pointed out that having two managing directors at the same time as the council were cutting services was wrong.

"They have also championed a greater say for residents at council meetings, led the fight to protect Park Pool and they roll up their sleeves with their community action days to make the area cleaner and greener."

Pupils from Burscough St John's Catholic Primary School who judged the winner of the Best Christmas Window Display Code1086771

Primary pupils judge Best Christmas Window Display

PUPILS at Burscough St John's Catholic Primary School were given a special 'project' over the festive period – they were asked to judge the winners in the village's Best Christmas Window Display organised by Burscough Parish Council.

They visited local businesses to view the entries then sat down over a cup of hot chocolate at the Infusions Café to decide the winner.

And after careful deliberation they presented the trophy to Marci Robinson of Villages in Partnership charity shop on Liverpool Road North for their Christmas Eve–themed display.

Meanwhile, West Lancashire Civic Trust also held an Ormskirk Town Centre Christmas Window Display Promotion and certificates of merit were awarded to Pandora's Box on Wheatsheaf Walk, Scrumptious Cakes on Church Walk, Belle Boutique on Church Walk, Cottage Crafts on Church View Courts off Burscough Street, and Andrew Collinge on Wheatsheaf Walk.

MP repeats call for drainage board to avert flood misery

ROSIE Cooper has urged action to prevent future flooding in West Lancashire by reiterating her call for the creation of an Internal Drainage Board IIRB).

The Environment Agency is scheduled to halt funding for flood–preventing pumps at Banks Marsh, Boundary Brook, Kew, Rufford Causeway and Clay Brow from July 2017.

And the West Lancs MP has written to the Prime Minister and ministers at the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (Defra) to call for investment in an IRB to manage water levels and work to reduce flooding risks.

Homes and farm land across West Lancashire were devastated by flooding in 2012 and the borough was badly hit again by storms Eva and Frank over Christmas and the New Year and Ms Cooper believes the situation will become more dire once the pumps are turned off next summer.

She said: "My heart goes out to every West Lancashire resident who has been affected by flooding over the Christmas period. Flood water causes considerable damage in a short time but it takes significantly longer to repair the damage.

Rosie Cooper

"The government can't talk of its concern about flooding whilst trying to ignore the effects of their own actions in cutting the budgets of local councils, police, fire service and organisations.

"Having been responsible for causing the Environment Agency to take this decision, the government has refused all calls to help with the costs of setting up an Internal Drainage Board and all the relevant agencies have reached a stalemate.

"We simply cannot have each agency, council and the government pointing fingers at each other because they themselves don't have to endure the human misery and personal cost of homes, of businesses being flooded and produce lost as farmers' fields are underwater.

"We have to recognise that this flooding happened with the pumps working. Besides retaining the satellite pumps, we need additional investment to tackle flooding in this area. We need a commitment to tackle flooding problems which requires investment and a promise from the Prime Minister that he won't make things worse by allowing the pumps to be switched off.

"It appears there are still issues about co–ordinated responses to the flooding, residents not knowing where to turn or not receiving any help when they needed it. This was one of the main problems in 2012 and a lesson that has not been learnt."

‘New morality’? Give me the Sixties any day!

I CONFESS, I regularly watch soaps Emmerdale and Corry.

Not to the extent that it would upset me to miss an episode or two, though one can lose the thread rather when one character or another (normally quite ordinary folk supposed not to have much spare cash) suddenly jets off to Spain or some such. Always with no prior warning and to visit various sons, daughters or never before heard of friends, often missing important events in their lives such as weddings or, indeed, Christmas.

But it was the Christmas soap antics that got me thinking about ethics and morality, as you do from time to time.

I came through adolescence and young manhood during the ‘Swinging Sixties’ – and though I was never a Mod or a Rocker, I must have absorbed the general ideas of love and sex prevalent then – and it seems to me that in general they actually seem far more ‘moral’ in many ways than the modern mixed–up ideas of good and bad.

I don’t know what might be going on in the East End, though I bet it’s much the same, but in the soaps representing this end of the country the idea seems to be that changing your wife or partner (another word that is now misused, rather like gay) very nearly as often as most folk wash their car, is perfectly OK. But a surreptitious kiss is apparently absolutely beyond the pale and a good reason to end an otherwise happy marriage.

It seems to me that the 60s attitudes were simply more straightforward and honest than the strange, confused attitudes of today. I know I am straying into rocky waters here, but what folk these days do not seem capable of doing anymore is to differentiate between sex and love properly.

I grew up in a world where the odd kiss and cuddle, though obviously asking for trouble if your marriage partner became aware of it, was certainly not grounds for a massive break–up.

And then we have this modern ‘excuse’ for trotting off into the arms of another – “I can’t trust you anymore.” Like so many things these days, this appears to be a phrase which has subtly changed its meaning to suit our ‘new morality.’

Of course trust is vital in any partnership. But to say (and this happened in Corry fairly recently) that you are ending what until then was a happy marriage because your spouse lied about whether or not he had been in the pub is frankly beyond belief. Or beyond mine anyway.

You could perhaps excuse this if we had become a people who stand up for the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. But the same soaps in which it is getting difficult to work out who is actually shacking up with who, or whose children they actually are, seem quite happy to condone car theft, thievery – even murder – without turning a hair.

Oh, I’m sorry, in Emmerdale at the moment the character Debbie has just driven off into the sunset for the fairly good reason that her fiancé has just confessed to attempted murder. Unfortunately to someone else.

So the moral (!) of this story is tell your girlfriend you are a failed murderer before anyone else or you’ll be deemed untrustworthy. Confess all and you can be forgiven.

She didn’t think about telling the police though.

Unacceptable behaviour? Give me the ‘free love’ Sixties any day of the week.

County council in plea for more foster carers

LANCASHIRE County Council is seeking to recruit more foster carers to help turn around the lives of children in care.

The authority is keen to enlist more people in the county willing to provide stable homes for teenagers and groups of siblings and give them the love and support they deserve while they can’t live with their own families.

A package of support is available to help foster carers in their role, including local support groups, their own social worker and a support worker to offer advice, support and guidance.

Meanwhile, out–of–office hours support is also available through a dedicated helpline staffed by experienced social workers.

Training is flexible, including during school hours, evenings and weekends, as well as online, and can be tailored to the needs of any child.

County Councillor Matthew Tomlinson, Lancashire’s cabinet member for children, young people and schools, said: “We are looking for people who can foster all ages of children, particularly brothers and sisters who need to stay together and teenagers. It’s a challenging and rewarding role, but you won’t be on your own, we offer lots of support.

“We give first priority for child placements to our own foster carers over agency carers. We can fast–track foster carers who are transferring from other agencies through our approval process.

“I am always delighted to hear stories of how our foster carers have made a marked difference in a child or young person’s life and helped them reach their potential. I recently heard about one woman and her husband who have fostered a 13–year–old boy and the experience has enriched all their lives.”

Anyone interested in finding out more about fostering is encouraged to contact the county council’s friendly team on 0300 123 6723 or visit www.lancashire.gov.uk/fostering.

Last chance to enter business awards

BUSINESSES in West Lancs have until midnight Friday (January 15) to enter the annual Red Rose Awards.

The awards will crown the county's best firms across 26 categories.

The 2015 event, organised by Lancashire Business View magazine, attracted more than 1,000 entrants.

Magazine publisher, Richard Slater, said: "We are giving businesses in Lancashire the chance to shout about what they do and why they are the best at it – and we hope they'll grasp that opportunity with both hands by entering."

The charity partner for the Red Rose Awards 2016 is Cash for Kids and funds will be raised at the awards event to support their work.

To take part in awards, visit www.redroseawards.co.uk. Winners will be announced at the Winter Gardens in Blackpool on March 10.

Young readers hit the gold trail

A TRIO of young book lovers are the latest to strike gold on the Lancashire Reading Trail.

Sisters Emily, 11, and nine–year–old Isabel Wareing, along with seven–year–old Ben Attwood, completed the challenge at Burscough Library by reading and reviewing 50 books each, receiving a gold certificate and free book from library staff for their efforts.

Library manager, Carol Young, said: "The children have all enjoyed taking part and have collected stickers, bookmarks and certificates along the way. Well done to the three of them."

Pupils showcase sporting skills

YOUNGSTERS from schools in Skelmersdale and Up Holland recently competed against each other at different sporting events.

SHARES PE, made up of local primary schools, held their last competition of the year at West Lancashire College.

The event was a Key Stage One multi–skills competition and 10 Skelmersdale and Up Holland schools took part with four children representing each school.

The competition consisted of a mixture of activities such as football, dribbling, tennis, balancing, throwing, challenges, speed bounce jumps and many more.

Holland Moor Primary School topped the points to take first place, followed by Bishop Martin C of E Primary School in second and Delphside Community Primary in third.

Schools invited to join in Birdwatch survey

Report by Danielle Thompson

EAGLE–eyed youngsters from West Lancashire are once again being invited to take part in the world's biggest school wildlife survey.

Now in its 15th year, the RSPB's Big Schools' Birdwatch helps to track numbers of birds in school grounds, giving the charity an insight into which species are doing well or not , as well as providing pupils with a great learning experience.

The birdwatch takes one hour and teachers can pick any day during the first half of spring term to take part.

The survey works across a wide age and ability range and there is plenty of flexibility to run it as simply as teachers would like – either as the centrepiece of cross–curricular studies, project work, or a way to improve their school grounds.

Running from the start of the year until February 12, each school's findings help the RSPB's experts to build a picture of bird populations and monitor any changes, while carrying out the survey helps children to improve their observation skills.

Valuable

Last year, a record breaking 90,000 pupils and teachers across the UK took part in the Big Schools' Birdwatch, which revealed the blackbird as the most commonly seen bird in school grounds, with 85% of schools seeing an average of five, followed by the starling, house sparrow, black–headed gull, carrion crow and woodpigeon.

Now the RSPB is looking forward to receiving this year's school wildlife sightings, which also contribute to the results of the RSPB's annual Big Garden Birdwatch, the biggest wildlife survey in the world taking place on January 30 and 31.

Birdwatch co–ordinator, James Harding–Morris, said: "This fun and educational activity is suitable for all ages and abilities and, best of all, it takes just one lesson or lunchtime.

"Research has shown that children are increasingly disconnected from nature, which is linked to poorer physical and mental health, so this event is a great way to get young people excited about the world around them.

"It also provides us with valuable information on how some of our familiar birds are doing and encourages the children to help give nature a home."

Action group to stage peaceful protest over plastic plant scheme

Report by Danielle Thompson

A PEACEFUL protest is scheduled to take place tomorrow (Thursday, January 14) at a site in West Lancs which could become the first plant in the UK to convert waste plastic into diesel fuel.

In September, the Champion revealed that P–Fuel Limited had submitted an application to Lancashire County Council to create a new facility to chemically convert non–recyclable plastics at the West Quarry site in Appley Bridge to the dismay of residents.

Now action group, Appley Bridge Community Against Greenbelt Erosion have planned a peaceful protest to coincide with a site visit by members of the county council's planning committee starting at 10am.

Members of the group will also travel to County Hall in Preston next Wednesday (January 20) when the committee members are scheduled to make a decision on the application.

The plant, which would have a 17.5 metre chimney stack, would operate 24 hours a day, seven days a week and would process up to six tonnes of of plastics each year – the maximum amount allowed.

Residents in neighbouring Parbold and Dalton and environmentalists in Skelmersdale also raised concerns fearful that potentially harmful emissions could be blown in their direction by prevailing winds.

Objectors are also angry that an environment and health report into the plant and submitted to the council was commissioned by P–Fuel themselves.

Planning permission was previously granted two years ago to use the site to generate electricity using bio–liquids.

Bird charity seeks more volunteers to monitor country's species at risk

A NATIONAL wildlife charity is calling for more volunteers to help monitor bird numbers in the UK as a new report reveals that more than 25% of species across the country are in need of 'urgent' help.

The British Trust for Ornithology's Birds of Conservation Concern report, the latest assessment of the UK's 244 species of birds, found that 67 are now on the trusts's Red List of those of the 'highest conservation concern'.

And an appeal is being made for West Lancs residents to volunteer with the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds (RSPB).

The Red List now includes the curlew, puffin and nightingale, as well as more familiar species such as the starling, turtle dove and cuckoo.

The starling– one of the familiar species causing conservation concerns

And the list now accounts for more than a quarter (27%) of the UK species up from 21% at the last assessment in 2009 when 52 species were on the list.

The decline of widespread woodland birds has developed since the 2009 assesment, while three species of seabird have also joined the Red List for the first time.

However, the latest assessment does contain some good news as it demonstrates that targeted conservation action can make a real difference.

Three species – the bittern, dunlin and nightjar – have been moved from the Red List to the the Amber List, due to targeted actions which have triggered a boost in numbers.

This year's Hillsborough service to be last one held at Anfield

Report by Tom Martin

THIS year will be the final time the annual Hillsborough memorial service will take place at Anfield stadium in a move which has split opinion from those who have attended the event over the years.

Last week, the Hillsborough Family Support Group (HFSG) announced that Friday 15 April, 2016 will be the last service to be held at Liverpool FC's home ground, bringing an end to 27 years of tradition.

Every year on this date, family members of the victims, Liverpool players and staff, fans and residents gather to remember the 96 supporters who died in the 1989 disaster.

The families, which have come to the decision unanimously, believe the timing is right with the inquests into the deaths expected to conclude before the upcoming anniversary.

The HFSG has said this April's service will provide them with "final closure" and added that they hope those who want to continue remembering the 96 can do so in their private way.

Social media users were quick to back the families and wish them well, but others believe the annual service should carry on at Anfield as it "brings the fans together".

Chair of the HFSG, Margaret Aspinall, said: "The 96 will never be forgotten. It is likely that the inquests will be concluded before the anniversary so this final memorial service will provide the families with some closure.

"The HFSG would like to thank everyone for all the support the families have received over the past 27 years and all those people who have attended the service at Anfield each year.

"We would also like to extend our thanks to Liverpool Football Club for their continued support over the past 27 years and for hosting the service each year at Anfield.

"We hope that the public and fans respect the decision of the HFSG and will continue to remember the 96 in their own perhaps more private way."

The decision has divided opinion from some social media users, with one person on Facebook commenting: "This has shocked me. There's no reason to stop the annual service. It has always been moving to see everyone come together and it will be a shame for this to end."

Others claim that in the future, a service should be held at Anfield for special anniversaries, such as the 30th in three years time.

A lot of internet users have been keen to back the decision of HFSG.

David Ervin posted on Facebook: "This remains one of football's most heartbreaking tragedies. If HFSG says the annual service can be discontinued, then theirs is the only opinion that matters."

ORMSKIRK UKULELE BAND TO STRIKE A CORD AT RETIREMENT DEVELOPMENT

A Retirement Living development in Ormskirk is holding an afternoon of all-singing, all-strumming entertainment with live performances from a local, Ormskirk-based ukulele band, as well as delicious cheese and wine tasting.

The free event will be staged at Coronation Court on County Road, on Friday 5 and Saturday 6 of February. Ormskirk retirees and their families are invited to pop along to the development between 12pm and 3pm to enjoy a foot-stomping obituary of rock-n-roll and popular classics, and the chance to try a variety of different cheeses and wines from around the world.

Fiona Brooks, Regional Sales and Marketing Director for McCarthy and Stone North West, comments: "We're really excited to welcome visitors to Coronation Court to enjoy some good music and take a tour around our beautiful development. It's such a fantastic opportunity for local retirees and their families to come and see first-hand what a happy and thriving community we have here at Coronation Court, and to have any questions answered that they might have by our experienced Sales Team."

Presenting an attractive contemporary design, inspired by the combination of history and character that Ormskirk is known for, Coronation Court also provides an extensive range of facilities to help homeowners enjoy every minute in their new property. These include a: stunning homeowners' lounge ideal for socialising with friends, beautifully landscaped gardens in which to relax and a convenient guest suite should homeowners have friends or relatives to stay. The development also benefits from its very own House Manager, who ensures the smooth running of the development, a security entrance system, plus 24-hour emergency call points for added peace of mind for both homeowners and their families.

Fiona continues, "A thriving community and companionship are just some of the many benefits of living in a McCarthy and Stone development, and events like these are such a brilliant example of that! All of our staff are working really hard to make the final preparations, and the homeowners have said how much they are looking forward to hearing the band, and to welcoming something a little bit different!"

McCarthy and Stone is committed to helping those over 60 stay independent for longer. The option of Retirement Living provides the independence of retaining home ownership, while living in a secure, low maintenance and energy efficient apartment with the opportunity to benefit from companionship when they want it and privacy when they need it.

The event is expected to be busy, so it is recommended that anyone wanting to come along reserve their place by contacting the sales team on: 0800 3100385 or via email at Coronation.Court @mccarthyandstone.co.uk.

Gripping murder mystery is SDC's first play of 2016

Preview by Ron Ellis

A scene from Death in High Heels. Picture by Fletcher Hill photography Code NA

THE Southport Dramatic Club open the second half of their season with a gripping murder mystery originally written by Christiana Brand, one of the last great mystery writers of the Golden Age of Crime, and adapted for the stage by popular playwright, Richard Harris, author of 'Stepping Out'.

Behind the gossip and glamour of a 1930's fashion house, secrets and lies are rife.

When 'Christophe et Cie' employee, Miss Doon, suddenly collapses and dies, poisoned by the oxalic crystals used in the workshop, suspicion falls on the various employees, each with a motive to murder the unsuspecting victim.

Enter Inspector Charlesworth and his assistant Sergeant Wyler to investigate. With many red herrings along the way it will take a second murder to lead them to the killer before the final curtain falls.

The play is directed by Robin Hirsch. Giles Davidson plays Inspector Charlesworth and Angela McIntyre is Sergeant Wyler. The rest of the cast includes Diane Mackley, Sarah Viali, Carole Quirk, Ann Richards, Keri Powell, Nikki Ritchie, Simon Hawkins and Howard Kernahan.

Death in High Heels opens on January 22 until January 30 at 7 45pm.

The box office opens on January 15 at 11am, telephone number 01704 530521/530460.

Moving stories feature in city play

BOSSES at Liverpool's St George's Hall are inviting people to a performance of two moving stories.

The first is based on the most famous chronicle of life under Nazi occupation, Anne Frank's Diary and the other on Eva Schloss' book, After Auschwitz.

They will be performed in the Concert Room on Tuesday 26 and Wednesday, January 27 (Holocaust Memorial Day).

The evening in is two halves: the first looking at Anne in her room in the Annexe in Amsterdam; the second telling Eva's story, from her childhood, when she played with Anne.

Otto Frank returned to Amsterdam to discover that he was the sole family survivor of the Holocaust. His two beloved daughters Margot and Anne, and his wife, had died in Auschwitz. The only memento of those two years, he and his family had endured, hiding in an Annexe, was Anne Frank's diary.

The diary reached into the hearts of everyone who read it, and became a world bestseller. An innocent 14–year–old girl, with her life beckoning, had harmed no one.

Her only 'crime' was to be Jewish and for that 'crime', young teenage Anne was deprived of her freedom and then her life.

Anne Frank is played by Justine Saville, an aspiring student at the acclaimed Liverpool Theatre School and is directed by Ellie Hurt, a post–graduate from the Liverpool John Moore's University.

Eva Schloss survived the horror of Auschwitz, where her family met Otto Frank. Eva's father and brother died in captivity. Eva's mother and Otto Frank consoled each other over the deaths of their family members, and they married.

PRAYER TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN

Never known to fail.

O most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, faithful Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this necessity, O Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein you are my Mother, O Holy Mary Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succour me in my necessity.

(Make Request).

There are none that can withstand your powers. Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (3 Times).

Sweet Mother, I place this cause in your hands (3 times).

Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine.

This prayer must be said for three days and after that the request will be granted and the prayer must be published. MAS

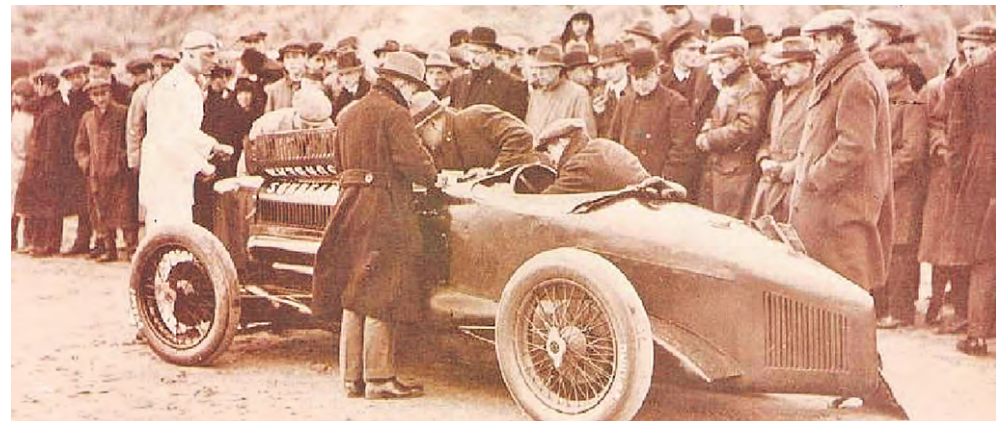
Resort roars back to the age of speed for festival

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.blogspot.com



Sir Henry Segrave made motoring history in Southport nine decades ago Code NA

SOUTHPORT is finally getting its moment in the motoring spotlight.

Anyone up on their local history will know the town actually does pretty well on automotive heritage – and that Red Rum isn't the only sort of horsepower our part of the world can be proud of. A century ago we were building Vulcan cars here, followed by Corgi scooters well into the 1950s, and when the beach wasn't being used to hone future Grand National winners it was being used as a race circuit for blokes in Minis and Hillman Imps. We're also home to the oldest Morgan dealership in the world (which has been selling Malvern's finest since 1926) and just up the road in Banks there's a chap who's made more than 400 re–creations of the Lotus Europa.

Yet our finest automotive hour has been all but forgotten. Five years ago I remember writing for The Champion that the day Sir Henry Segrave set the world land speed record right here in the North West – March 16, 1926 – was marked only by the name of the town's branch of JD Wetherspoon. The resort's stint as the fastest place on earth had been all but forgotten – until now.

Aintree Circuit Club – the people behind the Ormskirk MotorFest – have vowed to mark the 90th anniversary in style. I've seen the plans for the event and it's exciting stuff; they could have parked some classic cars outside The Atkinson and left it at that, but they haven't. They're planning an entire week of events, topped off by a re–creation of the actual run using a Sunbeam Tiger (V12–engined vintage monster, not the 1960s roadster) just like Sir Henry did.

That means it'll be the second land speed record re–enactment in a year, following the return of Sir Malcolm Campbell's Bluebird to Pendine Sands in Wales. To have something like that happen right on my doorstep is hugely exciting, which is why I can't wait to see this event getting off the ground and witnessing a 1920s racer capable of more than 150mph fire into action on the very beach it wowed the world.

The event's called The Southport Festival of Speed and I'm sure there'll be plenty more on it in The Champion in the coming weeks. See you there!

Linnets lose out to Witton in thriller

Burscough 2
Witton Albion 3

BURSCOUGH slipped to their second league defeat in a row after losing out in a thrilling encounter against Witton Albion.

The Linnets failed to make the home advantage count as they narrowly lost out 3–2.

The scoring was opened by home striker Will Jones, who struck in the 28th minute.

However, Burscough failed to hold on to the lead for very long and Witton equalised just three minutes later through Callum Hassan. After the half time break, Jay Matthews gave the visitors the lead in the 62 minute.

Witton then looked to have wrapped up all three points when Rob Hopley scored in the 86th minute.

Burscough were not ready to give up just yet and pulled a goal back a minute later to make it 3–2.

Lawson takes positives from defeat at high–flyers

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

Salford City 4
Skelmersdale United 0

UNITED emerged from what was a difficult day at Salford's muddy Moor Lane ground on Saturday as wiser men.

Manager Tommy Lawson said he learned plenty about his players, especially as they showed the pride in themselves to keep battling on against, what at times, was an impossible task.

If you are playing away against one of the two teams that are favourites to win the league, the last thing you want to do is concede an early goal, so when Salford scored in the fourth minute it didn't bode well for Skelmersdale.

And when it was 4–0 by the 46th minute it threatened to be a complete nightmare day for the visitors.

The fact that it wasn't a more damaging defeat was down to the tenacity of the Skelmersdale players and augers well for the future.

The first Salford goal came via a touch of individual magic from winger John Johnston. The number seven, who is on loan from Alfreton, gathered the ball on the right and cut inside, continuing his run before rifling a thunderous shot across goalkeeper Martin Fearon into the far corner.

The second on the quarter–hour had a bit of quality and bit of luck about it. Midfielder Scott Burton lifted a wonderfully–weighted ball into the space between goalkeeper and defender and James Poole set off after it, as did keeper Fearon. The latter looked a marginal winner until the ball appeared to hold slightly on the soft surface and give Poole the opportunity to dink the ball past Fearon and finish well.

It was a nice piece of skill from both Burton and Poole, but luck certainly didn't smile on Fearon.

As the half progressed Skelmersdale came more into the game and it became obvious that new forward Max Hazeldine had the legs on the Salford backline.

In the 16th minute the youngster, who is on loan from Accrington, saw his shot go wide and then on 19 minutes he made no such mistake but was frustrated to see Chris Lynch get back to clear his goalbound effort off the line.

Salford effectively secured the points in the 35th minute when Johnston went on a mazy run down the right culminating in him wriggling past two defenders before firing into the roof of the net.

When, within seconds of the re–start, a long ball was converted by Jordan Hulme to make it 4–0, Skelmersdale had to fear the worst, especially as Salford had won 7–1 the previous Saturday.

The rain poured and the pitch was arguably by the end unplayable, but referee Helen Byrne had to finish the game off after she had started it.

For Skelmersdale the introduction of Isaac Kusaloka up front made a difference and Hazeldine continued to cause problems for the hosts. Salford hit the post via Richie Allen, but to even that up home keeper Jay Lynch made one magnificent diving save from Kusaloka in the latter stages.

By the end though, it seemed everyone was just satisfied that the whistle had gone so that they could dry off after the second–half monsoon.

Tommy Lawson was full of praise for Salford after the match saying: "Sometimes you have to say you were beaten by a good team. They are a good team. Yes, they have resources that we at Skem can only envy, but they have used those resources well and look well set for a proper promotion push.

"We have learned a fair bit about ourselves this afternoon and quite a lot of it is positive, despite the score."

Two join on loan as Skem face fixture uncertainty

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

REGULAR followers of Skelmersdale United's fixtures who pick up The Champion to find out where they are playing next will be left thoroughly confused by the situation they are in at the moment.

The situation has been caused by the rain that has fallen on West Lancashire over the last few weeks and the necessity to play the FA Trophy replay against AFC Fylde as soon as possible, plus the need for the winner to make the long journey to Eastbourne Borough in the next round, a tie that was originally scheduled for Saturday, January 16 and one that might still take place then.

As things stand, if the weather doesn't intervene and the Stormy Corner pitch is fit to play on, Skelmersdale will play AFC Fylde at home in the FA Trophy tonight (Wednesday, January 13).

If they win that game they will play Eastbourne Borough away in the next round on Saturday, January 16. If Skelmersdale lose against AFC Fylde on Wednesday, they will play Stamford at home in a league game on Saturday, January 16 then travel to Colwyn Bay for a league game on Tuesday, January 19 and on to Stourbridge on Saturday, January 23.

If the match tonight at Skelmersdale is postponed – as it already has been on three occasions and the weather forecast is poor – then the game will be played on Saturday, January 16 and the confusion really does kick in!

Max Hazeldine

Firstly, Saturday's game against Fylde would be scheduled for Stormy Corner but there is pressure to play the game elsewhere because it is holding up the fixtures of both clubs involved and the competition in general.

It is understood that efforts have been made to play on another ground but at the time of going to print there is nothing resolved.

This would mean the game at Eastbourne could finish up as a midweek game and create a big problem for the part–time players of Skelmersdale and AFC Fylde, due to the distances involved.

There is also talk that the game at Eastbourne might be on Saturday, January 23.

The situation is raising a lot of rumour and counter–rumour adding to the confusion.

Supporters are advised to check fixtures for the next week on the club website.

Skelmersdale manager Tommy Lawson has been busy himself over the last week or so, bringing in two additional players on loan, one from Everton and another from Accrington Stanley.

Eighteen–year–old midfielder Tyrone Duffus is the player from Everton's Academy and according to Tommy Lawson he arrives "highly recommended by the Everton coaching staff."

The other is Max Hazeldine, another 18–year–old and a forward who has already had experience at Stockport County where he made three first team appearances whilst on loan with the Hatters.

Both promise to enhance the Skelmersdale squad and give Lawson more options with a month of fixtures on Saturdays and midweek to come.
